Major Research Area Paper Presentation

Textual Inference as a Cognitive Reasoning Process

by

Animesh Nighojkar

For the Ph.D. degree in Computer Science and Engineering

This interdisciplinary project builds on previous work in the area of natural language processing and machine learning. It is a continuation of the research conducted by the author and his advisor, Dr. Animesh Nighojkar, at the University of South Florida. The project is supported by the National Science Foundation (NSF) grant number IRI-0000000. The author would like to thank his advisor, Dr. Animesh Nighojkar, for his guidance and support throughout the project. He would also like to thank his family and friends for their love and support. The author is currently a Ph.D. student at the University of South Florida, where he is working towards his degree in Computer Science and Engineering. He is also a member of the IEEE and the ACM. He has published several papers in the area of natural language processing and machine learning. He is currently working on a book titled "Textual Inference as a Cognitive Reasoning Process".
